The Black Death was a bubonic plague pandemic, which reached England in June 1348. It was the first and most severe manifestation of the Second Pandemic, caused by Yersinia pestis bacteria. The term Black Death was not used until the late 17th century. Originating in Asia, it spread west along the trade routes across Europe and arrived on the British Isles from the English province of Gascony. The plague was spread by flea-infected rats, as well as individuals who had been infected on the contin

The Black Death in Ireland. Already contemporaries noted how the Black Death hit the Anglo-Norman settlers in Ireland much harder than the Gaelic People. New research offers an explanation. In 2001, the Historian Maria Kelly published a history on the ravages of the Black Death in Ireland. In this book, she noted - as did the contemporaries - the uneven distribution of the havoc, which the horrible pestilence caused.
