This is the second memoir written by the accomplished author A. Leigh Corbett; it chronicles her university graduation and subsequent fall from grace into drug rehab and ultimately graduate school. As somewhat of a 'sequel' to "Wisdom 23," Corbett expands upon certain topics such as advice for people in general, and advice for writers in specific. With a sometimes dark and satirical undertone, her light-hearted philosophies raise interesting questions about life and the world we live in. Her experiences with love are unique as they are mistifying.

Thirteen-year-old Sammy meets a mysterious man who dies of a heart attack after telling her to get rid of the large amount of money he is carrying, leading her to investigate who the man was and how he came to be carrying so much cash.
